Dear Customers,

NUDURA is proud to be the very first ICF company with Declare Labels!

We believe that increasing the use of healthy materials is essential for the future of the built environment, that is why we are so excited to announce that all three of our manufacturing locations will now have Declare Labels.

What are Declare Labels?

Declare is an ingredients label for building products, paired with an online database. It allows manufacturers to demonstrate their leadership in the marketplace and it provides consumers with honest information for product selection.

With this new certification, Nudura demonstrates its leadership in the ICF marketplace and shows consumers that the product they are buying, specifying, or using is one that they can trust.
